with 30 years of experience, knowledge, and skills in the food industry, we are proud to present our Italian import company “SPIZZICO” based in Miami. The quality control of our food products is the strength of our company. This is due to the cooperative efforts between farmers, technical experts in the agricultural sectors, and our assistance programs and technical advice control which monitor all stages of our products from the seed to the crop. We guarantee that only healthy and controlled products with the right ripeness are entering the plant. These products are processed the same day of their arrival. We respect the maximum sanitary standard and we ensure that our products preserve their genuine freshness. The companies we are associated with work with modern laboratory and continue to invest in cutting-edge machinery. Staff professionals are well prepared and supervised control procedures by the management team ensure that the consumer receives the best quality control of our products.
